“ Alex was a man of many talents and a wonderful man he was. A great musician and husband and father and a friend to everyone he met I my self have never have had a bad memory of Alex always pleasant and never a out spoken word he would just sit back and play that guitar and sing as second nature it was to him but words can not explain the loss that anyone who new him will have not running into him or hearing him play and his deer wife and children not to see him but God has a wonderful angel and ALEX YOU WILL BE LOVED AND MISSED!##imported-begin##Michelle Goodman##imported-end##

“ I just wanted to tell you a lil story about Alex. i ½ Many years ago I was attending KCC and I walked out of my 3rd floor classroom and there was Alex sitting on a bench in the hallway, like that was the place to be at the time, I was shocked to see him so of course I asked him what he was doing there, and he replied waiting for my wife, and I remember thinking most husbands sit in the car but not Alex. i ½ He will be missed.##imported-begin##Tina Hunter-Dalton##imported-end##

“ My condolences to the McCartney family. I met Alex, when he was in one of my classes at KCC about 23 years ago, and then I had the pleasure of seeing him again at Riverside doing his respiratory therapy. He was always a pleasure to take care of. He will be missed! God Bless!##imported-begin##Barb Blanchette Dams##imported-end##
