“ To all of you, I am so sorry to hear about your mom's passing. I talked to her a while back & all we talked about was "how my family & I were getting along." I feel so bad now, because I didn't even ask about how she was doing. Your mom has been around here forever. I've known her over (40) years. When my mom passed away, your mom was the only one that I "broke down" to. She was special, she was like my mom. There are not many moms like them any more. I am glad to say that I got to know her through the years. Us kids growing up, playing baseball, neighborhood cook-outs. They seem so long ago now. The next few days, are going to be the hardest yet. But be strong & hold on to each other. I'm hoping to make the services. I just had a low-back procedure & now I am very limited on my movements. Sincerely,
Don & Brenda Beckner

“ As I sit down to write a tribute to my mother, I struggle to find words to express my thoughts and feelings. Words seem inadequate to describe the sense of loss, and the world keeps on going despite my grief. I remind myself how thankful I am to be the daughter of such an incredible mother and find comfort in knowing that she's in a much better place now. Growing up the youngest of six children there has always been more than enough love for all of us. In a world where too many mothers are turning away from their children and husbands in pursuit of "their own happiness", I'm thankful for the love, integrity and commitment both of our parents instilled in our lives. My parents never wanted us to fuss over them, growing up I never realized how much it was always all about us and never them. The past few days we've witnessed an outpouring of love and memories from family and friends who also called her "Mom and Grandma". She not only touched our lives but the lives of many others through her caring and selflessness. I'm thankful that we were all able to be with Mom and Dad as they left us and find comfort in knowing they both knew how very much they were loved and appreciated. I'm sure Heaven is a much brighter place now because of them. The many memories will help us through now and the laughter that we share as a family will be bittersweet. I thank God for the great family that we've become because of my Mom and Dad and all the lives that both my parents touched along the way.##imported-begin##Rhonda Luhrsen##imported-end##

“ To Mom's family.

Words can't express my feelings of loss, and I can only imagine yours. I can share that Mom not only raised a wonderful caring family, but she also treated many of the rest of us as her own. It's a priviledge feeling a part her and Dad's family. Although I've lived away for some time, I'm grateful for the visits I made to see her when home, and regret not visiting more. Mom always made me feel welcome and I really enjoyed catching up. Over the years, memories keep bringing me home, so please know I'll be thinking of you now and always.
