“ I met Amber back in 1999 before she moved to the beach. I worked at the beached whale in FMB. She was visiting her aunt. We hit it off pretty good. She was supposed to be my date for a friends wedding in Michigan but never showed up. She told me she sat in front of my mother's house in Michigan but didn't have the nerve to knock so she drove back to Illinois. Silly girl. Years later we were very good friends and roommates on the beach. I loved that girl one of the best I've ever known. We kept in touch kinda on Facebook a few phone calls here and there. I would've called more but you always think you have time. I'm so sorry for everyone's loss. I never met you Reef I moved away before you were born I'm very sorry for your loss your mother was loved and adored by many. My name is Norman Bearer and I have no idea what happened. If anyone would like to share that with me it would be greatly appreciated. You can contact me on Facebook. Once more I am very sorry

“ I did not know Amber very well at all but for the little time I got to be around her she was a very easy going lively and lovely lady and love and cared for her family greatly. Their was fire about her. And I will keep the family in my prayers thew these hard times. And hopefully they will be able to share glimpses of the same fire, love, and care and lively energy she gave to the world and others. I didn't know her long at all but you didn't have to to see all of that and so much more wrapped up in one person. I will look for her star in the sky.

“ Not to offend anyone, but her most important and greatest love in life was her son, Reef, who has failed to be mentioned in her obituary.
