“ I will always remember Bridget as the absolute cutest little sister of my sister, Erin Flanagan's, friend, Kathy Wyatt.

Being six and ten years older, I had the privilege of being an older sister to these girls...I took Bridget to Great America and I remember the tears in her eyes when she was too small to go on some of the rides, even though we tried to get her to stand on her toes.

I remember taking her to see A Christmas Story at the movie theater.

For a photography class I took in college at Columbia College, one of my projects was dressing all the girls up in dresses to recreate a pretend dress-up theme, Bridget was a part of that.

She was so sweet and kind and loving. It was one of the only times I wanted a child because you just melted around her.

I was always just giving her little kisses, she was so cute.

I am so saddened to hear that little Bridget is no longer with us, only in spirit.

I am grateful life has blessed me with my time with Bridget growing up.

May you rest in peace, sweet girl.
