“ There are no words that could ever take away the pain that is always going to be with you. All I can say is that knowing this precious young life was given to us for such a short time that made such an impression on everyone whether they knew him or not has left such an impact on this whole community. That just shows how very special he was and will be now that he is an very special angel. Know that no matter what he will always be watching over you and will always be around you even though you might not be able to see him he is there right by your side. Stay strong and know everyone is here for you during this very difficult time.

“ Cale my last memory of you was the night of the Christmas program. You were on the top of the bleachers barely singing and goofing with the buddy next to you.
