“ They say that time heals all wounds. No matter how much time may pass; all the time spent with grandma and grandpa are still the best and emotional memories. I never got tired of hearing her old stories.. and many newer stories.

“ Mommy I miss you so. Next month it will be 5 years, and I still want to talk to you. It's so nice to see your picture here, as if you are part of cyberspace! You are the sweetest little mommy ever, and I miss your beautiful face. I hope you're happy. My favorite times were when you and I would sit in the porch swing and you would sing old songs to me. I didn't realize that even then you were preparing me to be the Johnny Mercer maven that I've become! "Yesterday we had some rain, but all in all, I can't complain. Was it dusty on the train? P.S. I love you."

“ I am sorry for your loss. ĩ½Aunt Tine must have been lonely since Rell died.

Billie and I used to go to visit Tine when we were little. ĩ½She always had time to talk to us and tell us stories about former times. ĩ½She was a very giving woman. ĩ½We were lucky to have known her.

I regret that we will be unable to come to the funeral due to health reasons. ĩ½It is very difficult for Heinz to travel now. ĩ½Please give our regards to all the family.

With love,

Karen###imported-begin##Karen and Heinrich Dickhut##imported-end##

“ The last time I visited with Aunt Tene was Oct. 4, 2006. ĩ½It was the day Jim and I came back to Illinois to close on the sale of our house. ĩ½Aunt Tene was not having a good day...she was sleepy and kind of slumped over in her wheelchair. ĩ½But when I put her amplifier on and talked to her, she lifted her head and smiled at me. ĩ½It was obviously difficult for her to get her head up to look at me, but she made the effort. ĩ½I think that act of will was typical of the way she lived her life....she would always go the extra mile for the people she loved. ĩ½Once you were on the list of her loved ones, you were on it forever and you knew you could count on her to come through for you. ĩ½I know she never let me down, never disappointed me....whether she was sewing a new skirt for me to wear to high school or, in her last years, smiling at me with that special sparkle in her eye that signalled recognition. ĩ½She may not have been able to say my name, but she let me know with that smile that she knew I was someone special in her life. What an honor it was to be her niece!###imported-begin##Susanne Hildebrand###imported-end##
