“ Gram was not just my grandmother but my friend. She loved every minute that she was able to spend with her family. She was so happy to have great grand babies in her life. Even in her final days she wanted to see them as much as possible. She was an honest and strong woman. After many many surgeries throughout her life left her in chronic pain she just kept plugging away. She did as much for herself as possible. I will always remember her for that strength. She always supported me. She was proud of me and she made sure that I knew it. She will be truly missed!

Love Always,
