“ I was saddened to learn of JoAnn's passing this morning. We became friends during the time that we taught at Herscher High School. She taught Home Ec. and I taught vocal music in the Herscher Jr. and Sr. High Schools. We have since exchanged Christmas cards but were never able to visit each other after I left Herscher and pursued a medical career, moved to Indianapolis and married.

JoAnn was always gracious, a loving Christian and great cook. She will be remember fondly. I know she cared deeply for her husband, Max.

“ Ms Greenman was my high school home economics teacher quite a few years ago. Lol I thought the world of her and I'm sure she knew I was NOT going to be top student, but she was so sweet to me. Forward some years later, her and her wonderful husband, Max, became our neighbors. They were so sweet and were so good to our kids-the kind of neighbors you wish for. I am so so sorry for you loss Mr. McRobert's.
