“ It took me a long time to understand the quiet fierceness my grandma passed to my mom, who passed it to me. Her journey shaped her from her start in Russia, to a childhood in a death camp in Austria, to adolescence in Brazil, and to settling home in Chicago. Ludmilla Onopiuck passed away this weekend but she gave my mom, aunt, sisters, and I so much to carry on.

“ Vera and I were the luckiest daughters in the world to have such a wonderful mother like you. You never complained despite all of the hardships that you endured - from being a non-jewish survivor of the holocaust to recently breaking your arm. You led by example by praising the good and forgiving the bad. Thank you for all of the sacrifices that you made on our behalf. We are so glad that you were able to see what fantastic adults you created - Vera and Greg, Kelly and Ben, Teri and Daniel, Lindsey and Jed. We are especially glad that you were able to see the birth of your great granddaughter, Aurelia Mae Lentvogt. She is only 4 years old, but we know that you will be proud of the woman that she becomes when she grows up. We love and respect you, Mom, and we will miss you terribly. You humble daughter and son-in-law, Elizabeth and Daniel Wong
