“ While I am deeply saddened by the passing of my dear brother, I like to share some fond memories of him that will stay with me forever.

Manuel is a very thoughtful and caring person who has touched my heart tremendously throughout my life. His love of his little sister went beyond my young age years and continued to extend to my family and my two children who considered him their most beloved Uncle. It is always a joy to visit him and his family in Iloilo. Even just for a few days, my children would ask to go to visit Uncle and Auntie and all their cousins as even though we don't see them that often, all of us would consider him and his family our dearest relative. He built the family business with his bare hand with the help of his able wife. He is a very hardworking person and has achieved great success, not only in business, but also every aspect of his life. He has been blessed of having a great family with a loving wife who is his right hand partner, five very nice children and many grandchildren whom he was very proud of. I know he was happy in his final years with the great support of everyone from his family.

He has provided help to many people everywhere, including everyone in our family, with a sincere heart. My mother used to nag and scold us when we did something not to her liking, even I would complaint. Manuel is the one who never complaint a word about mother, something only a great person with a big heart can do. He will always say: Mother may be too much of a nagger to our liking, but her heart is good and she is a good person. To this day, I always remember his words and this serves as something for me, not only to respect him even more, but also to guide me throughout my life to see things beyond superficals.

Even though he is gone, he will always be with us in our heart. So at this time of mourning, I thought to share this memory and to also celebrate his great life and appreciate the time we were fortunate to be with him. My sincere condolence to Letty and the children who are so much devastated for the loss of such a great husband and loving father.
