“ Maggie was a wonderful person,one that I truly enjoyed having met.

Her love of firstly, God,her family and life was inspiring to all the fortunate ones who crossed her path.

She taught,not just in the classroom, we all learned from this woman so full of love for us all.

She will be surely missed,

but remembered forever.

We are all better off to have known her.

My prayers to all of her friends and family.

“ I shall always remember Maggie as one of the truly caring people from Bradley Central who graciously welcomed me "into the fold" when I was a first-year teacher. ĩ½Although I did not see Maggie on a daily basis, she always had kind, encouraging words for this rookie. ĩ½I don't recall her ever being without a smile. Whether at school or at a social gathering, Maggie was rarely without an "entourage." ĩ½People gravitated to her warmth. ĩ½After all these years I can still remember the sound of her laughter and the sparkle in her eyes. ĩ½Maggie was one of those rare people whose impact is long felt and remembered.##imported-begin##Mona Jones##imported-end##

“ Maggie was the nicest lady you could ever meet. I would have adopted her if I could have. From the minute I met her she completely stole my heart. I really came into contact with her when I started dating Mike Huber. He was the library book shuttle between Kathy Huber and Maggie. I remember many trips to her house to drop off or pick up books. She talked to me like she had known me all of my life which was so endearing to me that I immediately became attached to her. If she asked you " How are you ? " she would genuinely care and remember what you had told her. I am sorry that the last time that I saw her was at Bakers Square in passing but that is what I have to remember now. I know that we live in Georgia but I will miss sending her pictures from Mya and getting sweet little notes from her tucked in our Christmas cards. “ Maggie was a bright light in the lives of very many people. ĩ½Maggie worked with children who were being made fun off because of the way they talked, and because of that their vision of themselves was one of not being worthy. ĩ½When she finished working her magic they would walk with their heads held high and they became successful people and worthy. ĩ½She will live in their memories and mine forever. Yhis world lost a very bright light when maggie left us.##imported-begin##Charles Tracy##imported-end##

“ Bruce and I want to extend our condolences to your family. ĩ½We were shocked to hear the news of Margaret's death. ĩ½We had just talked to her before she was admitted to the hospital. ĩ½She had called to extend her sympathy for Bea's death. ĩ½She was very upbeat and promised to get to the doctor as she was concerned she might also have pneumonia. ĩ½We have wonderful memories of times spent with her especially when we took her to a ND game. ĩ½Please know that you are all in our prayers as you go through this difficult time.##imported-begin##Pat and Bruce Huot##imported-end##

“ Maggie was a wonderful lady. ĩ½What I remember most about her was her spunk. ĩ½She always seemed to stick up for the little guy and root for the underdog. ĩ½And if there were a moment of uncertainty, one of Maggie's patented winks would let you know everything was going to be fine.

My deepest sympathy to her family.
