“ There will come a day when the tears of sorrow will softly flow into tears of remembrance...and your heart will begin healing itself...and grieving will be interrupted by episodes of joy...and you will hear the whisper of hope. There will come a day when you will welcome the tears of remembrance...as a sun shower of the soul...a turning of the tide...a promise of peace. There will come a day when you will...risk loving...go on believing...and treasure the tears of remembrance. I have fought the fine fight, I have run the course to the finish, I have observed the faith.-2Timothy 4:7. As for me, I will lie down that I may sleep; I shall certainly awake, for Jehovah himself keeps supporting me. -Psalms 3:5##imported-begin##Magallon Family##imported-end##

“ Calvin and Family,

I thought and thought the other day wondering what I remember the most about Marietta and it was her in a house dress frying fish at the cabin with her apron on. I½I was so amazed she would do that, my mother wouldn't fry fish in the cabin let alone for breakfast, what a hero!

The short time I was able to spend with her at Miller last summer is very special.

I am so sorry I wasn't able to attend any of the services. I½At the moment, I am transitioning to a new position in the company and I had 12 people coming to my office for training that couldn't be rescheduled. I½I truly was there with you. I½

Thank you for the memories,

“ Marietta's home was an island of stability for me from the time I was little (and that's a long time ago now). I½She had a wonderful dry humor and was a well of good sense and strong faith. I½I½Thanks, Cal for all your support over the years, especially when Mom died. I½I'll carry her and Patsy in my heart and mind always.###imported-begin###Pam Carpenter###imported-end##

“ What if the brilliant stars that bring the dark night sky to life are windows looking out of heaven? ĩ½And at ĩ½the very moment when we're wishing on those stars, hoping that the loved one we have lost are happy, safe and free. ĩ½Maybe they are looking at those same stars from the other side, making the same wish for us. ĩ½I'm wishing you and your family the comfort of the loving memories of your mother and the feeling that you'll always be connected to her, the one so close to your heart.
