“ Although the years have seperated our class mates, the Catholic education we received has kept us all together....perhaps not physically but in a deeper connection that we cannot totally explain.....I can remember car pooling with Mike in the 50's to St. Pats. bus riding to i;½Mac in the 60's.....35 years later we shared the same table at our reunion.....and told stories of our younger days like they were only yesterday.....that we were in cub scouts together were our earliest memories and we laughed about those days that reunion night.....I will remember not only those stories but that Mike was part of the circle of friends I grew old with.

Farewell my friend.....
