“ I never met Michelle, but I met Keith a long time ago. I clearly remember when he first met Michelle. Almost positive she was playing volleyball on the beach, and all he wanted was to go out with her, which he did. He was in love from day one. While I can't be there tonight to give you a hug please know you are in my thoughts, always. You were always a great listener but also funny. Don't stop being you.

“Michelle was always such a sweetheart. Many moons ago her & I use to have super long talks at the school bus stop and the one I remember the most was the one about braces. At the time she was getting ready to get braces & was really scared of not knowing if the procedure was going to be painful. So every day up until the day she got her braces put on her & I talked about how we thought she would feel & how cool it would be once she finally got them on. Well the day she came to the bus stop with her braces on, I felt as if I got them on too, lol. I was so happy for her, we gave each other a big hug and laughed about how it wasn't such a bad thing to get braces on after all, she looked beautiful with them on. After her braces her & I moved on to a new saga to talk & laugh about every day at the bus. We never ran out of things to talk about we just ran out of time to talk about everything because both of us liked to talk, lol. Michelle and I lost contact over the years but decades after we loss touch I was so pleased to find her of Facebook. Through her Facebook posts I could see she was still the sweet kind beautiful person I knew as a child growing up. Hearing of her death was shocking and sad to me but I know she has her Angel wings now and Heaven is a much better place than Earth. I am very sorry for the family's loss and have never stopped praying for their peace & strength during this difficult time. God bless!

“Although schoolmates lose touch...the memories remain. Michelle was so sweet..one of my oldest memories from childhood was our first field trip together. Such a gentle soul. Time flies and life changes... God bless her beloved family. ❤️
