“ Shelley and I were close online friends we had spent many hours talking and hanging out, she was a very special person who always had a good heart, she will be missed by many she has touched many lives. She is at rest in heaven now and her pains and worries are gone, she's free, there is an Inuit proverb that says " maybe they aren't stars but holes in the sky where the light from heaven shines through to let us know they are happy" rest in peace Shelly. My deepest condolences to her friends family and fiancé

“ My Dear "Twin" we both have had our share of health battles in the past few years. We have known each other 32 years. I'm so sorry I didn't get to see you before you went to be with Jesus. I know your pain free and reunited with your Mom and Nana. What a reunion that must have been. I'm sorry I won't be able to come tomorrow if I could be I would be! Sometimes I hate what this stroke took from me, but I'm glad to still be alive and wish you could have got the same Miracle I did. I miss you on Facebook. I miss your daily cheerleading for me. I love you my twin. Love you sooooo much and am so happy you are now pain free and running and dancing and cheering me on from above. Find Mary Beth and give her a hug for me. Love you forever my twin. ❤️ ❤️❤️❤️❤️ And will miss you until we are reunited. 😞😞😞😞😞 Fly High my Friend Fly High!!! 🙏

“ My dear Shelly....My Big Brother buddy for 4 years....whoever thought we would meet on the internet and become the best of friends.

All of our phone calls, all of our phone texts, all of our Facebook chats are memories that I will have forever. All of the recipes we shared and tried on each other. And then when Max proposed and gave you that beautiful ring we immediately started planning the wedding. You knew exactly what you wanted but most of all you wanted to be Max's bride.

The Christmas gifts we exchanged each year I will cherish forever. The Lamb portrait that was one of your favorites you had one made for me. I see it every morning and every night and I call it my "Forever Shelly".

You had a battle ahead of you and I believed a miracle would happen but God needed you more. My joy is in knowing you are free of the painful binds that held you here on this earthly journey. One day we will see each other in that mansion that is God's home. I will look for that beautiful red headed woman with the pearls around her neck.

I love you and miss you Shelly L. Leone. God puts people, places and things in our paths and He put you in my life as a friend I needed and a love that will last forever.

You giggle that cute little giggle you had and you will have everyone there with you giggling also. It was just captivating.

I could keep on writing about how much you mean to me but we will have our memories forever. We both know.

Again I love you to the moon and back and I hope you catch my butterfly kisses I am sending you.

Your forever friend....Susie
