“ Theresa was my mothers dearest friend and my Godmother. She was sunny and kind, and granted me many special favors as I attended the schools where she worked so cheerfully in District III. Sh gave me my first of many perms, much to my chagrin, but I loved her anyway. She was extremely skilled with her hands, and I remember a red corduroy robe with large black buttons that she made me for Christmas. I recall that she made several for various female children of the huge Africano clan. I remember my mother telling me about all the antics that Tony and my Uncle Jimmy pulled, and Theresa absolutely amazing my mother with her vivid descriptions of “The Facts of Life.’ The cousins remained close for their entire lives, with phone visits and in person drop ins to my moms assisted living home until Theresa could no longer speak. I hope that the girls are having a wonderful reunion in heaven, catching up and giggling once again. Rest In Peace, Godmother. You made the world a better place.
