“ Vic was such a beautiful person. I had not seen him since our 20 year reunion and didn't realize what a wonderful person he was until I was more mature. My heart hurts at his passing ❤️

“ Vic, you were the kind of guy that would give your last penny to other people. I remember when we moved into the house on Richard street I wanted so much to update the wallpaper and paint and I was going to have to do it alone, but you, you stepped up and helped me. You were there to make sure that it was all straight. How we laughed and I think that maybe you actually did it all while I made us coffee. You will always be remembered for that electric smile and the most gentle of hearts. How I wished I could have talked with you one more time, seen your beautiful smile one more time, or received that big brother hug one more time. I guess it is okay to say that tragedy brought us together, friendship reigned supreme! I loved you my friend and cherished your kindness through all the years. We will meet again! BTW - I always have projects to complete and coffee to share!
