“ My Aunt Billie, she was a wonderful lady and a dedicated mother. I remember the time when she showed me how to make eggnog from real eggs and milk and spices when I was a kid, it was good. In the early days, my Mom, Aunt Shirley and Aunt Billie call them selves the Three Musketeers when they would go out dancing together with their then husbands. But as time went buy the dancing days ended and motherhood took over. I had good times being around Aunt Billie and Jimmie Kennedy would play his saxophone in the living room just having some fun God Bless you Aunt Billie, I know you will be missed.

“ Aunt Billie has always been a favorite aunt. My first childhood memories are of visiting her in Chicago. I remember Aunt Billie in the doorway happily greeting us, feeding us well, and then we ran around with our cousins, while the adults visited and partied. I loved her easy-going nature and that of Grandma Meter and could imagine the fun my mom Evelyn had growing up with her sisters.

Years later, we visited my parents and Aunt Billie and Uncle Bob when they wintered at the Fountain of Youth Campground in California. Mom and Billie enjoyed swimming, walking, and having fun together. Aunt Billie and Uncle Bob even became skilled square dancers with darling costumes! For Thanksgiving, we all gathered at our house in Irvine and always had a good time. With lots of people to feed and two little kids running around, my mantra to stay calm was, “What would Aunt Billie do?”

Hugs to all!
